

Course 6 - Atrioventricular blocks

Modality: Self-Paced Learning

Duration:

The course on "Atrioventricular Blocks" provides students with a comprehensive understanding of the electrical conduction disturbances that occur between the atria and ventricles of the heart. This course explores the various types of atrioventricular (AV) blocks, their electrocardiographic (ECG) characteristics, clinical significance, and management strategies.